

Sea Virus

Alyssa's trip to the aquarium was more worrying than exciting. Turns out, there's a lot of Artifacts floating out in the ocean, as well as the colorful sea virus growing on metal scraps. Alyssa would love to jump into a submarine and go clean it all up. (Hint: this puzzle is grounded with the building layout of the Paul G. Allen Center for Computer Science & Engineering. Please do not try solve it while you are not in the building!)

